I'm Really from Corpus Christi

Austin is home to an annual short video contest. This year, I decided to put together some very amateurish video just for fun and enter. Let me say right off that I did not win. That honor goes to video makers with much more talent and experience. The experience, however, was such a tremendous learning experience that it has inspired me to do more. I will do that.

In the meantime, I am putting my seven-minute video out there for the world to see. It's titled, "I'm Really from Corpus Christi." Enjoy it!

Click on the link below to view the video. It's about seven minutes long.
